Extend puts parents at ease these holidays

If this time of year wasn't already stressful enough, with added expenses, Christmas preparations, family commitments and work pressures, the last thing parents need to be anxious about is being able to afford child care over the six week long school holiday period this summer.

Extend meets the criteria to attract Government fee relief as well as the 50% Child Care Rebate (CCR), which makes Extend holiday programs extremely affordable for working families. The average cost of a full day (ten hours) at holiday program is usually round the $50.00 mark and that's without Child Care Benefits or the 50% CCR. When you break that down parents are only paying $5.00 an hour at Extend to have their children looked after by qualified and experienced staff whilst being entertained and participating in worthwhile activities.

Families can't afford to be taking additional time off this year with parents clinging to their jobs and working longer hours. Extend makes school holidays easy by offering high quality programs for children at several locations across Melbourne. Extend's unique holiday program activities are designed to excite and engage all children from five to twelve years of age!

What are your children doing these holidays? Book into an Extend holiday program today!
